ODE TO ST. JOSEPH'S

Lyrics By: Jacqueline D. Davoren
The Class of '99

I CAN CLEARLY REMEMBER
EARLY ONE SEPTEMBER
NEARLY APPROACHING FALL
FEELING VERY, VERY TALL
I WENT FROM SUMMERS TO FROST
THEY SHOWED ME WHO WAS THE BOSS

ST. JOSEPH'S, ST. JOSEPH'S OH WHAT
WOES

MY COLLEAGUES SAID TO ME
CHEER UP, SPRING TO YOUR FEET
FOR SOON YOU'LL MEET
WHITE AND SNOW, ISN'T THAT SWEET
DON'T FEEL DESPAIR
KEEP YOUR HEAD CLEAR
SHOW THEM YOU'RE SMART
WHERE'S YOUR GREATHEART

ST. JOSEPH'S, ST. JOSEPH'S OH WHAT
WOES

DON'T BALK, THEY SAID
TALK TO A PASTOR
I DID JUST THAT, SHE SENT ME
TO THE MOUNTAIN TOP
THERE I MET MOHAMED, BOVE,
CALLISTE,
WILTSHIRE, McDERMOTT, DURKIN,
AND PARKINS

ST. JOSEPH'S, ST. JOSEPH'S OH WHAT
WOES

BOOKS I MUST READ FROM MORNING
TO NOON
TO TELL YOU THE TRUTH, AND I'M NOT JOKING
I'D RATHER PLAY A TUNE ON MY
SISTER'S BALDWIN PIANO OR GO CAROLING WITH
NICHOLAS, RUDOLPH, CAMPBELL,
STANLEY, RIOS, CONNOLLY,

MAURANTONIO, AND BOYKIN

ST. JOSEPH'S, ST. JOSEPH'S OH WHAT
WOES

A HARD DAY AT THE OFFICE
I'M FEELING AS IF I WERE MADE OF CLAY
FROM HEAD TO TOES INCLUDING MY NOSE

I MUST NOW FACE ARCHIBALD,
NAPOLITANO,
GREENBERG, BLACK, ROBINSON,
ILONGO,
FUENTES, AND THE DENTIST
AS A FREEDMAN, I PRAY EVERY DAY
THAT THE LECTURES AND MODULES
GO AWAY

ST. JOSEPH'S, ST. JOSEPH'S OH WHAT
WOES

SUDDENLY, I HEARD LAUGHTER
WHEN I TURNED TO SEE WHAT WAS
THE MATTER
IT WAS GASPER, FONTE, BENI,
EDWARDS, TARIQ,
HARRIS, AND GAFFNEYS

I ASKED WHAT WAS THE CLATTER
IN UNISON THEY SHOUTED
NOW IT'S TIME FOR MASTERS

ST. JOSEPH'S, ST. JOSEPH'S OH WHAT
WOES

AT LAST, IT'S ALL SAID AND DONE
I'LL PAT MYSELF ON THE BACK AND SAY
THANK YOU ST. JOSEPH'S, IT HAS BEEN FUN

IT'S A FACT ... YOU'RE A CLASS ACT

LIFE IS A JOURNEY
By: Enney K. Lawson
The Class of '99

Life is a journey, with each step we take everyday
All the dreams that we have, can so easily slip away.
We must take every moment we have,
to do something that will make someone glad
Then, we will truly experience great joy and never be sad.

Be true to yourself in everything that you do
Show love and understanding, they will come back to you.
Cherish all your friends that are dear
Let them know just how much you care
And like a light, you'll shine among others everywhere.

Whatever you do, there's a message that comes through Will it be a building block or a stepping stone from me and you?

Are we so morally blind, that we cannot see
That today's youth are mimicking you and me?
Our children are in pain, and to immoral practices
they turn for relief from the same.
We can no longer stand by, while they groan and sigh
Under society's heavy load, they will suffer and die.

We must help the weak become strong
Each one help one, whether it's a woman or a man.
We are brothers and sisters regardless of the color of our skin

It's who we are and what we stand for,
That caring person within.
So, as we venture out in the street and highway
Remember, life is a journey with each step we take everyday.

The joy of graduation will be followed by a tinge of sadness. The friendly chats with other students and professors will be sorely missed. I will not see my friend Toni Delia as often anymore, although our friendship after meeting at the college will be lifelong I'm sure. She has been an inspiration with her positive attitude.

The professors here have always been there to motivate us and give us a helping hand along the way. I would especially like to thank Professor Rupert Campbell whose booming voice as he drove his point across I will always recall. He also gave us a lot of humor which made his class truly enjoyable. And special thanks to Professor Beni who taught me to be a better thinker through his Problem Solving and Critical Thinking lectures. A sad farewell to Professor Thomas Napolitano who I enjoyed kidding with all the time and to Professor Mohamed who so patiently explains the intricacies of statistics. All the professors in fact have been truly wonderful. I believe if there is one thing they taught us through the daily discourses in the classroom is to be tolerant of the views and opinions of others. Also, to closely examine evidence before we form our own opinions.

As a transfer student I can truly say that St. Joseph's curriculum better prepared me to deal with real life situations than the previous college I attended. The dedication of the staff here is unlikely to be encountered anywhere else. I hope that the college will continue its tradition of turning out graduates well equipped to take on world problems and issues. Good luck to all graduates of the 1999 class and continue reaching for the top.

The Sea of Blue

As a child, my perception of a Police Officer was the person in the blue uniform who helped me cross busy streets and find my way when I was lost. The officer who would scold me and threaten to tell my mom if I misbehaved. The officer who rushed me to the hospital when I was sick or hurt. The "Cop" on the beat rain or shine "to serve and protect" my neighbor and friend.

As a teenager/young adult my perception changed. The officers on the corner who were always willing to help were gone. In their place were cops in cars who were always speeding by and seemed to have no time to stop. If someone was injured they came, but stayed in their cars and didn't help. If you flagged them down because you needed assistance, they rudely responded "dial 911 " and drove off. The "cop in the car" rude, uncaring and not a part of my neighborhood.

As a student at St. Joseph's College my perception changed again. The officers I encountered were "human" just like me. They have families, they have struggles, and they have dreams. As classmates we laugh, study, and share our experiences and our pains; perhaps the only noticeable differences were our jobs. For instance, when I get home from work I can talk about things that I've done and seen during the day. My classmates usually can't do this because most of what they have seen and had to do in the course of their day is at times revolting to even think about, forget about discussing it with anyone. My thoughts of retiring from my current job consist of starting a new career, starting my own business, and traveling. These officers wonder if they will even live long enough to retire. Over the past three years, I also discovered that these men and women are by no means rude or uncaring. In fact they care so much that it hurts, but they must keep their feelings inside and concentrate on getting the job done because in their profession emotions could cost them their lives

As a member of the graduating class of 1999 I leave these officers the following:

The hope that the stress and strains of the job do not defeat them.

A Prayer that when the time comes for their retirement these men and women will be able to exchange their badges for their hearts, their weapons for their souls, and their uniforms for their emotions.

My wish is that the "Sea of Blue" remains filled with the officers that I recall from my childhood and those that I had the pleasure of meeting as a student at "St. Joseph's College".

The class of '99

We have concluded the 1998 - 1999 school year and I am finally graduating. I would like to take the opportunity to write a few words to certain professors who have made an impact during my "stay" at St. Joseph's College.

Professor Angela Diaz: You were my initial contact at St. Joseph's College. Admissions and Registration was quite confusing. I heard through the grapevine that you thought I asked too many questions. Thanks for putting up with all of them. By the way, when will my final transcript be sent to the Police Academy?

Professor Daniel Beni: You were my first instructor at St. Joseph's College. I didn't know what to expect as I entered your classroom in the Spring of 1995. My fears soon disappeared as you welcomed all of us. You must have done something right to keep me from quitting school. After all, I did take a total of three classes with you. Problem Solving for Professionals was my favorite.

Professor Thomas Napolitano: I was warned that you ruled your classroom with an iron fist and that you were one of the toughest professors at St. Joseph's College. Since I am a glutton for punishment, I decided to take a chance. I could honestly say that I did not regret doing so. I learned so much from your valuable lessons. I am sure that I will utilize all the information attained in my future career. After attending Process of Management, Organizational Behavior, and Human Resource Management, I started getting the funny feeling that you were glad to finally get rid of me!

Professor Dr. Robert Polito: Who would have ever thought that after having you as a teacher in high school, I would be in the same classroom with you years later? During high school, I was able to cope with the four years of religion. On the other hand, the four years of Latin were quite brutal and I was glad to get through it. As I sat in your Business and Ethics class, I was quite fearful that you would start reciting Latin passages once again. I am so grateful that you didn't! By the way, you haven't aged one bit. How do you do it ?

Professor Clarence Stanley: Thank you for introducing us to your friend, Moe Green. He made for interesting topic of classroom discussions. Remember to always keep your wonderful smile, it is great for public relations!

Professor Harry Gaffney: I am sure that you are scrutinizing this piece of writing. I know that it is not perfect and that there are probably lots of grammatical errors. However, this is "fun writing" and an exception can be made. The words of encouragement that you gave me as I handed in my writing assignments meant a lot to me. I am more confident in my writing skills as a result of your class.

Professor Martin Jaffe: As a police officer, I was under the misconception that your Business Law class would be a breeze. After all, I already mastered Criminal Law. How much more difficult could Business Law be ? I found out the true answer to this question rather quickly. I will never become a lawyer!

Professor Barbara Schork: Your Group Dynamics class during the intercession last year was quite intense. I learned that team work is of utmost importance and that every now and then we all need to rely on each other. The experience shared amongst the class will always be cherished. The last day of class actually brought a tear to my eye.

Finally, I am grateful that I had the opportunity to meet a lot of new friends at St. Joseph's College. Good Luck to all in your future endeavors!

Dear Graduates:

The famed anthropologist Margaret Mead has written, "If we are to achieve a richer culture, rich in contrasting values, we must recognize the whole gamut of human potentialities, and so weave a less arbitrary social fabric, one in which each diverse human gift will find a fitting place."

This quote comes to mind at graduation because it is at this time that we hear from so many of you about what you most valued during your years at the College. Often mentioned are two interrelated dynamics which directly parallel the College's stated goals to affirm the dignity, freedom, and inherent value of each person, and to foster an environment of openness to the exploration and understanding of diverse ideas, traditions, and cultures. The accomplishment of these goals is realized, in part, as a result of the design of the curriculum and the efforts of our dedicated faculty. But the full realization of our intent is accomplished by the act of individual students—with diverse experiences and ideas—coming together to form a community of learners with a common purpose. For as you have striven together to acquire knowledge and achieve your goals, you have shared mutual respect and the bond of your humanity, and in this you can be proud.

I would like to extend appreciation to Daniel Beni and S. Carole Lessard for the work that they have done to make Achievements '99 such a success. May it serve as a reminder of the journey of your accomplishment and of the friendships you made along the way.

Sincerely,

Thomas G. Travis, Dean

Dear Graduates,

Your graduation this June represents the realization of a long held dream, the attainment of your baccalaureate degree. You have worked long and hard and have demonstrated great commitment to your studies, your families, and those you serve professionally. I hope this yearbook provides you with a rich source of memories of your college days at Saint Joseph's.

This year I would like to thank Theresa M. Adams, Marisol Calzadilla-Marino, Jacqueline D. Davoren, Paula Dozier, Elba Fernandez, and Enney K. Lawson for contributing articles to this edition of Achievements. Your words eloquently capture the unique struggles and special rewards of the adult learner.

I also would like to extend my appreciation to S. Carole Lessard, Susie James, Sadie McMillan, and Yvonne Griffin for their support - without which Achievements would not have become a reality.

In conclusion, I extend my best wishes to the graduates of the class of 1999. May your achievements be bright and bold and reflect all that you cherish for years to come.

Cordially,

Daniel Beni

Well, another year has passed, and I am not ready to graduate as I had hoped. I am excited for the class of 1999, and wish I could be joining them, but realize I must adjust my goals according to changes in my life.

That is what makes St. Joseph's College so special to me. It offers classes and schedules to fit the lives and circumstances of most working adults with families.

Whether we are students who push very hard, double up on courses and feel an urgency to finish as quickly as possible, or those who require a slower more cautious pace, St. Joseph's gives us the opportunity to complete our education.

All students are susceptible to problems with their health, families or work that can impact their coursework. Completion and a degree may mean a promotion, reemployment, or even a new career.

The professors and academic counselors at St. Joseph's College are supportive and helpful when adjustments must be made so we can attain our goals. We all have an opportunity to walk away with a diploma! (It just may take some of us a little longer than others).

The Class of '99

Everyone in this world has a reason
To dream, inspire and achieve.
Although it may just last for a season
We must have the faith to believe.
Take time to be understanding
A gift some people do not possess.
Together with hope and forgiveness
We have a recipe for success.

In all of us there is passion
An ingredient which drives us along
And, a mind filled with great imagination
It is the key to our master plan.
We should set goals that are realistic
Then, make them a part of our daily lives
We will find that our day can be fantastic
As the plans mature before our very eyes.

Disappointments are hard to overcome
Hold on to your dreams and be true.
Keep going until the task you began is done
Someday success will come to you.

Remember the word perseverance
Without it, where would we be?
Having a sense of determination
Will win victory for you and me.
